

Jumpina is an advisory service of the town of Winterthur for girls, who are residents of Winterthur. This service is free of charge.

Who goes to jumpina?

- Girls between the age of 13 and 18 years
- In transition from school to the professional- and adult life

Why do girls go to jumpina?

- Because school or free time are challenging
- Because they need support in finding an apprenticeship or another suitable connecting solution
- Because there are conflicts with peers or adults
- Because they need help with crises or difficulties in their actual phase of life

Jumpina wants to achieve the following targets

- The girls can remain in school and finish the regular school
- The girls find an apprenticeship or another suitable connecting solution

Jumpina can offer the following

- Working together on solution steps
- Support with finding the right profession and apprenticeship
- Support with finding another suitable connecting solution, for example a year for vocational preparation
- Mediation and consultation when conflicts occur
- Support by social workers in difficult situations
- Support in a challenging everyday school life

- There are 1 to 2 consultations per week within a period of minimum 3 months. The consultation takes one hour
- Besides consultations jumpina also offers a luncheon on Wednesday

Jumpina values

- A confidential contact with the girls as a basis of the cooperation
- An overall view of the girls, meaning we work with the strength of the girls and on their targets
- A close cooperation between the professional participant (schools, authorities, institutions and so on)
- A respectful cooperation with parents, to whom a good development of their daughters is important
- Confidential handling of information

Registration

- Girls or parents can contact us directly
- Girls can also be registered or referred to by schools (teachers, school social workers, head teachers or authorities).
- After having taken contact, a first non committing talk will be arranged, afterwards the young people and the jumpina team decide on an entry.
